

Covid-19 Disclaimer

Updated 6/2/2020

As we navigate through this unprecedented time as responsibly as we can, we have implemented a number of new safety measures based on guidance from health authorities, such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and appropriate state and local governmental agencies. We, along with the Kalahari Convention Center, are committed to have a responsible reopening of the BrainStorm conference.

Since many of these measures will be new, and may evolve, we want to be sure attendees, vendors and the Kalahari staff are aware of all these changes:

- Temperature screenings prior to check in
- Face coverings required for attendees and vendors
- Physical distancing shall be observed wherever it is feasible
- An increased focus on disinfecting and sanitation, including the addition of hand sanitizer stations in key areas

COVID-19 Warning

We have taken enhanced health and safety measures—for you, our other attendees, vendors, our staff and Kalahari staff. You must follow all posted instructions while attending the BrainStorm conference.

An inherent risk of exposure to COVID-19 exists in any public place where people are present. COVID-19 is an extremely contagious disease that can lead to severe illness and death. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, senior citizens and people with underlying medical conditions are especially vulnerable.

By attending the BrainStorm conference, you voluntarily assume all risks related to exposure to COVID-19.

BrainStorm Conference and Midwest Educational Technology Association, Inc. is not able to prevent you from the potential of becoming exposed to, contracting or spreading COVID-19 while you are in attendance of our conference. In addition to your voluntary assumption of risk, you further hereby forever release and waive any right to bring suit against BrainStorm Conference and Midwest Educational Technology Association, Inc. and its owners, officers, directors, managers, officials, agents, employees, or other representatives in connection with exposure, infection, and/or spread of COVID-19 related to attending the BrainStorm conference. You understand that this waiver means you give up your right to bring any claims including for personal injuries, death, disease or property losses, or any other loss, including but not limited to claims of negligence and give up any claim you may have to seek damages.

Let's work together help keep each other healthy.
